TCT Conference @ formnext

For over twenty years it has been the TCT Group's mission to accelerate the adoption of technologies that promote innovation in the design-to-manufacturing process chain. TCT aims to deliver world-class conferences on the latest trends from the world of additive manufacturing and 3D printing. The attendees can depend on well-balanced seminar programmes, consisting of professional talks from renowned academic researchers, industry experts, market analysts and product evangelists. TCT conference @ formnext is an educational platform. It features the industry's most inspirational figures who share their experience on how 3D technologies are making a real impact in the manufacturing world. This is where future insights and developments in aerospace, automotive, medical and dental sectors are examined. Consumer product design and new research on materials and processes is also thoroughly analysed here. The practical case studies and panel sessions not only supply the attendees with a detailed overview of this fast-growing industry but also advise on how to successfully adopt AM.
